Part I Taxpayer Identification Number (TIN)

Enter your TIN in the appropriate box. The TIN provided must match the name given on line 1 to avoid backup withholding. For individuals, this is generally your social security number (SSN). However, for a resident alien, sole proprietor, or disregarded entity, see the instructions for Part I, later. For other entities, it is your employer identification number (EIN). If you do not have a number, see How to get a TIN, later.

Note: If the account is in more than one name, see the instructions for line 1. Also see What Name and Number To Give the Requester for guidelines on whose number to enter.

Part II Certification

Under penalties of perjury, I certify that:

- The number shown on this form is my correct taxpayer identification number (or I am waiting for a number to be issued to me); and
- I am not subject to backup withholding because: (a) I am exempt from backup withholding, or (b) I have not been notified by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) that I am subject to backup withholding as a result of a failure to report all interest or dividends, or (c) the IRS has notified me that I am no longer subject to backup withholding; and
- I am a U.S. citizen or other U.S. person (defined below); and
- The FATCA code(s) entered on this form (if any) indicating that I am exempt from FATCA reporting is correct.

Certification instructions. You must cross out item 2 above if you have been notified by the IRS that you are currently subject to backup withholding because you have failed to report all interest and dividends on your tax return. For real estate transactions, item 2 does not apply. For mortgage interest paid, acquisition or abandonment of secured property, cancellation of debt, contributions to an individual retirement arrangement (IRA), and generally, payments other than interest and dividends, you are not required to sign the certification, but you must provide your correct TIN. See the instructions for Part II, later.

General Instructions

Section references are to the Internal Revenue Code unless otherwise noted.

Future developments. For the latest information about developments related to Form W-9 and its instructions, such as legislation enacted after they were published, go to www.irs.gov/FormW9.

Purpose of Form

An individual or entity (Form W-9 requester) who is required to file an information return with the IRS must obtain your correct taxpayer identification number (TIN) which may be your social security number (SSN), individual taxpayer identification number (ITIN), adoption taxpayer identification number (ATIN), or employer identification number (EIN), to report on an information return the amount paid to you, or other amount reportable on an information return. Examples of information returns include, but are not limited to, the following.

- Form 1099-INT (interest earned or paid)

- Form 1099-DIV (dividends, including those from stocks or mutual funds)
- Form 1099-MISC (various types of income, prizes, awards, or gross proceeds)
- Form 1099-B (stock or mutual fund sales and certain other transactions by brokers)
- Form 1099-S (proceeds from real estate transactions)
- Form 1099-K (merchant card and third party network transactions)
- Form 1098 (home mortgage interest), 1098-E (student loan interest), 1098-T (tuition)
- Form 1099-C (canceled debt)
- Form 1099-A (acquisition or abandonment of secured property)

Use Form W-9 only if you are a U.S. person (including a resident alien), to provide your correct TIN.

If you do not return Form W-9 to the requester with a TIN, you might be subject to backup withholding. See What is backup withholding, later.

I hereby state that I am a Per Diem Independent Contractor and meet all qualifications as such contained in the law.

PURPOSE

The purpose of this Agreement is to provide health care services in the home or health care facility where there are ill or disabled person and/or people in need of specialized home health care and/or staff relief for local health institution. Per Diem Independent Contractor acknowledges and represents that he/she is a self-employed care provider.

1. PAYMENT FOR SERVICES

I agree that I only received compensation for the work or services performed on a Per Diem Basis; as a (position) _____ at a defined rate per hour agreed between both parties in the Agreement variable to each Client. This contract does not prohibit the Per Diem independent Contractor from working with other organizations or on his/her own assignments.

I agree that for Clients that elect to pay me through an escrow account ("Escrow Account") that Registry maintains for the convenience of Clients, I hereby authorize that each such Client payment by the Client and/or its third party payer be reduced by the amount of fees I owe the Registry with respect to such payment. Furthermore, I assign to Registry all my right, title and interest to collect and receive for its own account such payment from the respective Client and/or third party payer on my behalf.

I acknowledge that I bear the entire risk of non-payment by any Client, and in the event that Registry were to advance me a Client payment, and the Client and/or its third party payer fail to pay such amount within a reasonable time determines solely by Registry, I will be liable to repay such amount to Registry and such amount may be deducted from any subsequent payment to me through the Escrow account by and Client.

I acknowledge and represent that I retain sole responsibility for all federal, state and local tax obligations that pertain to all compensation I receive from clients referred hereunder, including but not limited to Social Security, Medicare, self-employment and Income tax. I also understand that I will not be eligible for unemployment compensation. Registry will report on a Form 1099 for each year the amount of fees I received from clients referred by Registry.

2. LICENSES

The Per Diem Independent Contractor is responsible for ensuring that his or her own license or certification remains current and valid during the period of contract. Failure to maintain valid license or remains current status will cause suspension of assignments and may be the basis for termination of this agreement with the Registry. Per Diem Independent Contractor understands and acknowledges that he/she is responsible for fulfilling all continuing education requirements and all other requirements to maintain such license or certification.

7491 NW Oakland Park Blvd, Ste 304, Lauderhill, FL 33319 | 100 East Linton Blvd, Ste 116B, Delray Beach, FL 33483

ADRD Basics

What is Alzheimer's Disease and Related Disorders?

Alzheimer's disease is the most common form of dementia, which is a collective term used to describe a decline in cognitive abilities including memory loss, changes in mood or personality, changes in decision-making or reasoning, and other symptoms that interfere with daily functioning. Alzheimer's is not a normal part of aging: it is a progressive brain disease, meaning symptoms gradually get worse over time.

There is currently no cure, but there are several treatment options available to help relieve symptoms and slow the progression of the disease.

Alzheimer's Statistics

Alzheimer's disease is the seventh leading cause of death in the United States, and Florida has the second highest rate of Alzheimer's disease in the nation. There are approximately 580,000 individuals currently living with Alzheimer's in Florida, with this number expected to increase to an estimated 720,000 by 2025.

Older Floridians aged 65+ currently make up 51% of the total population of Florida. This correlates to the high incidence of Alzheimer's in the state, as age is the biggest risk factor for developing the disease. The prevalence of Alzheimer's is likely to grow as our nation's population continues to age.

ADRD COMMUNICATION STRATEGIES

Three Stages of ADRD

Due to the cognitive changes that occur with Alzheimer's disease, a person's ability to communicate will decline throughout the disease process. A person with Alzheimer's may have trouble finding the right word, repeat themselves, struggle to follow a conversation, or become sensitive to excessive stimulation. To better understand the person living with dementia, there are several strategies specific to each stage of the disease that can help make communication easier:

Early Stage

- Don't make assumptions about a person's ability to communicate because of an Alzheimer's diagnosis. The disease affects each person differently.
- Speak directly to the person rather than to his or her caregiver or companion.
- Give the person time to respond. Don't interrupt unless help is requested.
- Ask what the person is still comfortable doing and what he or she may need help with.

Source:

alz.org/help-support/caregiving/daily-care/communications

Middle Stage

- Speak slowly and clearly.
- Maintain eye contact. It shows you care about what he or she is saying.
- Give the person plenty of time to respond so he or she can think about what to say.
- Ask yes or no questions. For example, "Would you like some coffee?" rather than "What would you like to drink?"
- Avoid arguing. If the person says something you don't agree with, let it be.
- Give visual cues. Demonstrate a task to encourage participation.

Late Stage

- Approach the person from the front and identify yourself.
- Encourage nonverbal communication. If you don't understand what the person is trying to say, ask him or her to point or gesture.
- Use touch, sights, sounds, smells and tastes as a form of communication with the person.
- Treat the person with dignity and respect. Avoid talking down to the person or as if he or she isn't there.
- It's OK if you don't know what to say; your presence is what's important.

Take it slow
Ask simple questions
Limit reality checks
Keep eye contact

The TALK tactics provide a simplified guide for best practices when communicating with a person living with dementia. Keep in mind that a person with Alzheimer's may have difficulty with verbal communication, but can often still convey their emotions through nonverbal communication. Pay attention to the person's body language and facial expressions, which can offer valuable signals about how they are feeling. Similarly, the person with Alzheimer's can often recall how a person made them feel. Approaching conversations with warm, friendly, and relaxed body language can help the person with Alzheimer's feel at ease with you, leading to better communication.

HEPATITIS B VACCINATION INFORMED CONSENT

I understand that due to my risk of occupational exposure to blood or other potential infectious material, I may be at risk of acquiring Hepatitis B virus (HBV) infections. I have read the information concerning the Hepatitis B vaccine and I am aware of the availability and benefit that such vaccination provides in the preventions of infection with Hepatitis B virus.

I understand the benefits and risks of Hepatitis B vaccination and have had the opportunity to ask questions. I understand that:

1. The vaccination will be administered in a series of three (3) doses; the initial one, the second one a month later, and the third dose six (6) months after the first dose. I understand I must complete the series for full immunization at my own expense.
2. If I receive the vaccine, I have 90-95% chance of developing antibodies to the Hepatitis B surface antigen and therefore immunity to the infection of the Hepatitis B virus.
3. The vaccine may not be effective, if I am already incubating the Hepatitis B Virus.
4. The duration of the immunity is unknown at this time and I may require a booster in five (5) years.
5. The vaccine only protects against Hepatitis B virus and does not confer immunity against the Hepatitis A, Hepatitis C, or non-A/non-B agents.
6. After receiving the vaccine minor side effects, such as infections site soreness and redness, Low-grade fever, malaise and nausea have been reported.
